

Condition of acceptance your contributions

Editorial board will accept the papers that comply to prescribed formalities (graphical appearance and text format) as well as with the subject field of the journal. All papers are referred. Editorial board may propose the changes of the submitted paper and change them after the consultation with authors. It is expected that the authors of papers have finished at least the first level of university study (bachelor degree) in field of civil engineering, architecture, building industry management economics or public policy and have at least five years of experience in that field. Editorial board, however reserve certain space in the journal for the talented students too. We accept the papers in Slovak or English language. Papers published in the journal have to be a contribution for development of the theory and practice in fields of interest of our journal Real Estate and Housing. The papers have to be delivered to the editorial board at least 2 months before their publishing. Deadline for submitting the papers the first issue of journal is 15th February and deadline for the second issue is 15th August.

Thematic areas and sections

Journal Real Estate and Housing have three periodic sections:

1. Housing and Housing Policy,
2. Real Estate Market and Sustainable Urban Development,
3. Preparation Process and Management of Development Process.

Published papers in Journal will be organized according the thematic areas, such as: Refurbishment, Housing management, Real Estate Market and Property Development, Sustainable Urban Development, Others.

Subject field of the Journal Property and Housing

Journal Property and Housing is adressed to the municipalities, universities and to the other subjects which are active in urban development and housing policy.

Journal will be publish two times in each year (in 4th and in 10th month) in electronic form on the web site and on CD ROM. The goal is to create a new possibility for the researcher and specialists to present their problems and results. The journal has an ambition to be international forum for housing policy and sustainable urban development.